"MUMMY WHEAT"

Our Research Department has been able to obtain a small quantity of genuine ancient dynastic Egyptian "Mummy" wheat from Sir Ernest Wallis Budge, late keeper of antiquities, British Museum. This wheat is 3,100 years old at least. The Dominion Seed Branch Laboratories, Winnipeg, submitted part of the sample to a very careful germination test. After six days the kernels disintegrated into dust and mould, proving once again that genuine ancient Egyptian wheat taken from tombs will not grow. A photograph of spikelets and kernels of this "Mummy" wheat will be forwarded to any interested farmer. Write to the Research Department.

Date Set for UFA Nominating Convention.

The business which came before the meeting of the executive committee of the UFA Stony Plain Constituency Ass'n, held here on the 6th, was not finished when an adjournment was made. The adjourned meeting is to be held here tomorrow, Jan. 18. At last week's meeting W. M. Washburn, former M.L.A., presided, and some matters requiring immediate attention were disposed of.

Owing to the fact that the meeting was not as representative as could have been wished, owing to the failure of representatives from the outside districts to be present thru the inclement weather, it was thought advisable to leave the important questions to be settled at a more representative conference.

The Sun is informed that the date for the UFA Nominating convention has been set, tentatively, for Saturday, Jan. 26, in Stony Plain, when delegates from UFA Locals from all over the Constituency will gather here to elect a standard-bearer for the Provincial elections to be held this year.

At a recent meeting of Stony Plain UFA Local Mr. W. M. Washburn was elected as its delegate to the nominating convention.

Headed for British Columbia.

Another of our local prosperous farmers who will shortly be seeking a change of climate is said to be Mr. John Litsenberger. John returned last Fall from a motor trip thru the fruit and farming districts of British Columbia, with a special survey of the Chilliwack. In the latter district he is said to have been fortunate in securing an extra special bargain on a 12-acre layout, with handsome buildings and a full-blown orchard. Mr. Litsenberger secured this bargain thru a friend, from a retired sea captain, who intended returning to a life on the ocean wave. Mr. Litsenberger will give the new life a trial for a few years, as he has rented his farm at Inga. He expects to leave about the latter part of March, and will hold a sale. His new location is some five miles from that of Mr. Hoffman, recently mentioned as moving to B.C. in the Spring.

UFA Convention in Calgary.

Delegates from all over the Province met on Tuesday in Calgary for the UFA annual convention, with the promise that the program would prove of great interest.

The Executive had been successful in arranging for addresses by some of the best speakers available, including Premier Reid; M. J. Gidwell, national secretary of the CCF; G. G. Cooke, M.P.; Hon. J. Russell Love and J. M. Newman. Premier Reid brought greetings from the Provincial Government at Tuesday's opening session. This was followed by the address of Prof. R. L. Gardiner; and addresses from the Presidents of UPWA, the Farmers; and the report of the Directors.

J. M. Newman gave an address Tuesday Eve on Technology. The same evening Mr. Cooke, M. P., spoke on "The Financial Policy of the Farmer."

Some Improvement Is Shown In Recent Months In The General Level of Prices of Farm Products

The general level of wholesale prices of farm products averaged approximately 15 per cent. higher in 1934 than in 1933, says the 1935 "Agricultural Situation & Outlook" which is about to be published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Department of Trade and Commerce. In the latter part of 1934 the index of farm products tended to fluctuate narrowly about 40 per cent. below average levels obtaining in 1926, and 40 per cent. over the extreme low point of the depression reached in February, 1933. The variations in prices of farm products are illustrated by a comparison of averages covering the first ten months of 1933 and 1934 which reveal the following percentage increases:

No. 1 Manitoba Northern wheat	22 per cent.
No. 2 C.W. Oats	27 "
Timothy hay, No. 2	70 "
Good and Choice Steers	21 "
Bacon hogs	61 "
Wool, eastern bright	49 "
Milk	9 "
Butter	2 "
Cheese	2 "
Fresh eggs	13 "

On the other hand, prices of potatoes declined 17 per cent.

Farm incomes, particularly towards the close of 1934 and the first part of 1935 may be considered to have been largely part of the improvement registered by farm prices. The gradual adjustment of the debt situation should also affect incomes favourably.

The rise in prices of farm products has been accompanied by a less rapid advance in value of things farmers buy. A specially constructed price index of farm purchases, including living requirements as well as operating equipment, has moved upward roughly 5 per cent. above the 1933 average. Foods mounted 8 per cent., clothing 1 per cent., household supplies and equipment 4 per cent., and operating supplies and equipment 5 per cent. Since prices of manufactured goods have not advanced as rapidly as those for farm products, farm incomes will purchase larger supplies of needed goods than could be obtained at the beginning of 1933. The 5 per cent. increase in prices of farm purchases, however, will prevent the improvement in purchasing power from being fully commensurate with the rise of the farmers' gross receipts.

Consumption of food products has been well maintained during the recent years of low prices. Future demand will depend on the ratio of prices to purchasing power. Food prices have advanced during the past year more rapidly than the prices of other goods. Increased food prices have been associated with increased farm prices. Greater volume of employment and some wage increases, especially in the logging, lumbering, and newspaper industries, have at least increased total wages as much as living costs have increased. Hence the higher prices received by farmers for an aggregate volume of goods similar to that of 1933 is a net national gain in domestic purchasing power.

The Unknown Soldiers

Only 6,000 Identified In Straggle Cemetery In Italy

The strangest war cemetery in the world is at Rediguglia, Italy, where the bodies of 30,000 men are buried. Only 6,000 of the bodies are identified; the other 24,000 graves are those of unknown soldiers. The men were buried in such haste that there was no time to find out who they were or to what companies they belonged. This cemetery has no rows of wooden or stone crosses or sculptured monuments. Its tombstones are such familiar relics of war as aeroplane propellers, french mortars, field kitchens, pieces of artillery, rifles with bayonets "fixed", and tin hats battered by the blows of rifle bullets and pummed by bullets. One memorial stone is even an anti-aircraft search-light.

Praises Royal Winter Fair

Best Agricultural Show He Has Seen Since Lord Dorchester

Lord Dyrcester, who journeyed from England specially to be one of the judges at the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto, told the Ottawa Women's Canadian Club that the fair was a "magnificent project" which Canadians as a whole failed to realize its significance. To him, in its size, its splendid housing facilities and the diversity of its exhibits, it was unlike any agricultural show he had ever seen. Education was to be had there under the most pleasant auspices, and breeders and agriculturists came from many lands, to gain knowledge through exchange of views. The classes of the many animals shown and their splendid housing facilities, was only one of the many attractions.

The flower show was the equal of any he had seen at Chelsea, London, and the arrangements for display, finer than any in England. For himself Lord Dorchester admitted he had learned more than he ever thought possible, not only at the fair, but in an exchange of views on Canadian life gained in the various strata of society from Ministers of the Crown to bootblacks. "I took them as they came," he commented.

Work Speeded Up

Famous Highway In Austrian Alps Will Soon Be Finished

After being conducted leisurely for several years, construction of the famous Grosse Glockner Highway in the Austrian Alps is being pushed to completion so that it will be opened in the fall of next year. The road will traverse the Grosse Glockner range of the Alps and at the highest point will surmount the famous Edelweiss mountain. Construction work last summer was chiefly concentrated on the more precipitous section leading up to the summit, the "Pirchertor", where an observation parking place, nearly 8,000 feet above sea level, has been laid out.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

NEW MEMBERS AHEAD!

When he's very young, a simple, minimum cost camera is really preferable in most instances, but once he comes under the spell of real snapshotting, he merits—and should have—a modern camera of the better type.

Year after year, the idea of cameras as appropriate gifts for birthdays, graduation and other memorable occasions, has grown steadily. Last year, if you'll pardon the personal intrusion, I gave my own mother a simple little camera on her birthday. At first she was frankly skeptical. She had never used a camera, always relying on my sometimes unreliable self. She was sure she would never master that camera. . . . Now it goes with her everywhere, much to our mutual joy. To some folks, I wouldn't dream of giving a camera. They're not enough interested in other folks and places and life in general to get any fun out of it.

But there are others—the majority—to whom a camera would mean much. . . . What of cameras? It depends entirely on the kind of person who is to receive it. Every youngster should have a camera, but only the simplest, most inexpensive sort. By "inexpensive" I mean cameras costing from $10.00 to $15.00. They should be of any of the standard makes, using film available everywhere.

Of course, if you have a young friend who has shown more than average interest in picture making and has outgrown his simple little box camera, you can provide vast happiness by presenting him—or her—with a better camera.

Once you get above the five to ten dollar class, the variety of cameras to be had is bewildering. Of recent years there has been a tremendous increase in the use of so-called "pre-

Farm Creditor Boards Of Prairie Provinces Will Endeavor When Possible To Effect Conciliations

Before formulating mandatory proposals, boards of review appointed by the federal government under the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act for the prairie provinces will exhaust all efforts at conciliation—but debtors and creditors generally should understand that if the parties do not get together, then the boards, if in fairness to all concerned can formulate a proposal, they will do so. This point was brought out in a statement issued following a conference of the boards at Regina.

Those present at the meeting were: Mr. Justice Erving, Stanley McCharg, K.C., and H. R. McDonald, of Alberta; Mr. Justice Montague, A. E. Johnston, K.C., and W. G. Wroth, of Manitoba; Mr. Justice MacLean, G. W. Forbes, K.C., and Charles Hariton, of Saskatchewan.

When the conference of the prairie province boards had concluded, the following statement was authorized for publication:

"The boards appreciate fully that the intention of the legislation is that the farmers be retained on the land as efficient producers, and with that thought, boards have been created as a means whereby compromises or re-arrangements may be effected of the debts of the farmers who are unable to meet their liabilities as they become due. The boards recognize as a farmer entitled to consideration for the act that the farmer who reasonably is endeavoring to far his land in a proper manner and dealing fairly with his creditors. They regard their powers under the act as being very broad and in dealing with cases that come before them, while considering priorities will recognize as paramount the necessity in the proper cases of making that re-arrangement or that re-adjustment fair to the debtor and his creditors which will result in retaining the farmer on the land under circumstances which it is hoped will mean that he can continue as an efficient producer.

"The boards will give consideration to a classification of various kinds of debts and will be disposed to give special consideration to those debts in the same classification incurred for the necessities of life or for the efficient production of the land. Where debts represent unpaid balances in respect of the purchase price of chattels or land considered by a board unnecessary to the efficient operation of the farm unit, the creditor will be expected to give favorable consideration to taking the security back and cancelling the obligation."

"Creditors in some instances are stressing the policy of settlements on the basis of bona fide performance. In many instances this will be acceptable and fair to the debtor and creditors, but it is considered advisable that the farmer should be removed not only from his position of being in default but also that he shall not, by any proposal, be considered by the board be left where there is likely to be an early return to that default position. The boards propose to exhaust all efforts at conciliation before formulating mandatory proposals, but debtors and creditors generally should understand that if the parties do not get together then the boards if in fairness to all concerned they can formulate a proposal they will do so.

"In many of the cases that have already come to the attention of the boards it has been noticeable that creditors have voluntarily consented to a reduction in the interest rate. Recognizing the undoubted burden of fixed interest charges, the boards hope that the trend thus indicated will be maintained.

"The boards feel that every reasonable effort that can be made to continue the individual farmer in the position of being a 'home owner' should be made.

"The boards would also draw the attention of farmers and creditors generally to the fact that the courts have already recognized a distinct difference between the terms 'bankruptcy' and 'insolvency'. An unfortunate result of the serious economic depression and adverse climatic conditions has undoubtedly been to include a great number of farmers within the second term who do not come within the first.

"The boards will expect debtors and creditors generally to co-operate in the working out of this legislation designed as it is for the mutual benefit. The boards are desirous of having settlements arranged which are mutually satisfactory to debtors and creditors and believe that if all parties enter into the discussion of these difficulties with the traditional desire to get together and be of help so characteristic of the people of this country then settlements will be arrived at and a real contribution made.

"The members of the board are particularly desirous of dealing with all cases that come before them in the fullest and fairest manner and are especially concerned that in dealing with the facts and circumstances of all cases they shall do so not as advocates for a particular interest but as citizens concerned with making a real effort to assist their fellow citizens, both debtors and creditors, in their difficulties."

Umbrella Trade Poor

Frame Makers In England Lose $50,000 In Year

"The umbrella trade is absolutely done. Umbrellas and parasols are not used." This lamented a stockholder at the annual meeting at Birmingham, England, of a company of umbrella frame makers, who reported a trading loss of nearly $50,000 in the last year. The chairman blamed the stormy weather by declaring that during worst periods of last summer's drought umbrellas were manufactured and sold. The company will continue to make the rain defectors.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

A fortune in gold greater than any mined since pre-war years was taken from the rich hills and streams of Western Australia in 1934. It was announced the value of the total production was valued at $2,772,708.

It was announced the government of the Irish Free State has implemented the recent understanding with the British government for greater exchange of Irish cattle and British coal.

Commissioner John McMillan, Canada's new Salvation Army chief, and Mrs. McMillan arrived in Toronto to take over command of their new territory. It is the commissioner's third post in Canada.

With public meetings throughout the Dominion, a Canadian Education Week will be held under the auspices of the Canadian Teacher's Federation from Feb. 3rd to the 9th, it was announced in Montreal.

More than 500 lives were lost due to motor vehicle accidents in Ontario during 1934, a bulletin issued by the provincial department of highways states. Approximately 10,000 were injured, some permanently crippled or disfigured. Fatalities and accidents increased over last year.

The city of Vancouver has no intention of repudiating its debt charges, Mayor G. C. McGeer declared, but he intends to "lead a movement for reduction of high interest rates municipally, in all Canada, as well as provincially and federally."

Saskatchewan motorists who operated on the deferred payment plan in 1934 will be debarred from obtaining 1935 licenses until their past dues are paid. In order to effectively cope with the problem, motor license officials have been instructed at the branch offices to issue no license plates. All plates are to be issued from the Regina office.

Monster Timber Wolf

Trapper Near Sudbury Shoots Huge Beast Over Seven Feet Long

In front of a Sudbury fur store hangs the pelt of what must have been one of the largest Canadian timber wolves. The fur is 7 1/2 feet long from nose to tail. The beast, brought down in the heavy timber of Gogama district, stood 2 1/2 feet high when alive.

Two weeks ago C. Potvin, Gogama trapper, rounded a bed of a creek while covering his trap lines and suddenly found himself 12 feet in front of the largest wolf he had ever seen. With the wind at his back, the animal had not scented the man approaching.

With blood and fur on its jaw from a rabbit it had just killed, the wolf bristled and snarled a challenge at the stunned trapper. As the beast tensed for its leap, the trapper shot and the wolf dropped in its tracks, shot through the head.

Aerial Device Success

Scientists at the University of Chicago have perfected a baby stratosphere balloon. It is an automatic fact-recorder aerial device. During recent tests, the balloon soared more than 14 miles and before its contents were dashed to bits, the automatic radio broadcasting device had sent its precious records back to the receiving set.

YOUR HANDWRITING REVEALS YOUR CHARACTER!

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT (Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

(Editor's Note: Handwriting will often reveal traits as well as your weak and strong characteristics. Character Analysis might mean the beginning of a new life for you. Read the author's invitation following this week's article.)

Mr. J., Winnipeg, writes: "I am sending you a sample of my girl friend's writing with my own, and would like to ask you what I can do about stopping the quarrels that we seem to be having so often. She is a very likeable girl in many ways and I am extremely fond of her, but we have these quarrels—silly they often seem to me—and unless something is done about it, it looks as though we shall drift apart. I do not want to place all the blame on my girl friend, but I do believe that I myself am not really responsible for these interminable quarrels. I do all that I can to have things go smoothly along. Can you give me any advice?"

My dear Mr. J., the writing of your girl friend shows that she easily takes offense. She is inclined to "carry a chip" on her shoulder, and often imagines slights where none is intended. The trouble with this trait is that almost invariably the person most concerned does not realize it.

And this characteristic can cause a great deal of harm. It has led to perpetual bickering between the two of you, and may easily put an end to your romance, unless steps are taken to eradicate it.

I am writing to you direct, and will enclose a separate letter covering your girl friend's writing, and it may be that, by showing it to her, you will be able to bring home to her what a serious characteristic it is. I am sincerely hoping that it may be the means of stopping your troubles.

Miss W., writes: "How can I keep my boy friend. I am very much in love with him, and really believe that he loves me in return. Not only because he tells me so, but because of those little things that tell a girl when a boy really thinks a lot about her. But, lately, he seems to have been going out with other girls. I am enclosing a specimen of his handwriting, and would like you to tell me what his real character is. Is he really as good as I think he is, and why is he going out with other girls? Does that show that he does not really love me, after all? I am so worried, and would appreciate so much your advice."

In the first place, Miss W., I want to tell you that your boy friend is reliable enough. He is a normal type of young fellow; not very intellectual, perhaps, but straightforward. The trouble in his case is that he is somewhat vain. He thinks a good deal of himself.

I have a pretty shrewd idea that he is quite good-looking. The other girls have appealed to his egotism, and, feeling quite pleased, he has been going out with one or two of them.

It is significant, however, that he comes back to you, Miss W. My opinion is that he will grow out of this sense of ostentation. Something may turn up that will give him a shock—something that will change his self-conceit. There is a desperate balance in his nature that will come to the surface before very long. After all, he is still young. Do not make the mistake of pandering to his egotism. Do not get the habit of catering to his vanity. Be natural with him, as you have always been. That is really why he has appealed to him about you, although he probably does not realize it.

Can this well-known writer and graphologist help you, as he has helped so many others? Your handwriting tells the true story about the real you. And their handwriting will tell the truth about your friends. Send specimens of the writing you wish to be analyzed, stating birth-date in each case, and enclose 10c coin for each specimen. Send with 3c stamped addressed envelope, to: Lawrence Hibbert, Graphologist, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 176 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, Man. Letters are all confidential, of course. Replies will be sent as quickly as possible, but please allow at least two weeks for your reply.

TAILORED PEPLUM DRESS FOR BUSINESS AND "DRESS-UP" TYPE FOR PARTIES IN ONE PATTERN!

By Ellen Worth

Don't you think this little peplum dress smart? It wraps the figure in such a youthful way. And isn't the scarf tricky slipped through a slashed bound opening?

This little rig is stunning in a woolen material, any rich rust, Kelly or bottle green, monk brown, etc. For the scarf collar velvet or silk material is smart. Of course this model is lovely, too, carried out in pebbly crepe silk.

The model in the miniature sketch is bright red pebbly crepe silk. Again this model is adorable in transparent velvet or metalized crepe silk. Style No. 922 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 18 requires 5 1/2 yards of 38-inch material with 1 1/4 yards of 38-inch contrasting for dress and jacket.

Patterns 20c each. Address mail orders to: Fashion Department, Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 176 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

Enclose Extra if you wish a copy of our Fall and Winter Fashion Magazine. Pattern and magazine are mailed post paid.

"How To Make Better Dresses" booklet, a helpful guide to sewing, is obtainable for 20c. Whether you are a beginner or quite adept with the needle, we think it would pay you to obtain a copy.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON JANUARY 20

PETER'S LESSON IN HUMBLE SERVICE

Golden text: All of you girl your selves with humility, to serve one another. I Peter 5:5.
Lesson: John 13:1-17; I Peter 5:5.
Devotional Reading: Luke 14:1-11.

Explanations And Comments

Peter's Lesson in Humble Service, John 13:6-11. When Jesus came to Peter, Peter said, "Lord, dost thou wash my feet?" In the Greek the pronouns thou and my are in emphatic contrast at the beginning of the sentence.

Jesus answered, "What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt understand hereafter." Obviously these words had a deeper meaning than the immediate situation: they referred to the fact the disciples would meet in the coming hours when they would not understand the terrible events and would have to walk by faith. Only as the incidents in the Upper Room were surveyed in the light of Gethsemane, Calvary and the Resurrection, could they be understood.

Impulsively Peter then exclaimed, "Thou shalt never wash my feet." "It was the last, strange mixture of self-conceit and self-disgrace—the self-conceit which under the shadow of Hermon had called upon him so stern a rebuke when he had said, 'That be far from thee, Lord; this shall not be unto thee,' and the self-disgrace which, on the Sea of Galilee, had flung him to his knees with that great cry which from his yearning heart, 'Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord.'" (F. W. Farrar). That the customary foot-washing had not been performed before the meal began was due, we gather from Luke's parallel account, to the fact that the disciples had been disputing as to which of them was the greatest, and there was no self among them free enough from self-assertion and jealousy to perform this menial task for the others. Jesus showed them that "the patent of nobility within the Kingdom of God is the towel with which man girls himself for service."

Jesus' reply, "If I wash thee not thou has no part with me," caused a complete reversal of feeling in Peter. "No part with thee! If washing is necessary to fellowship with thee, then wash not my feet only, but my hands and my head!" he quickly exclaimed. "He that is bathed (comes from the bath through the streets) needs not save to wash his feet, but is clean every whit," Jesus explained, still speaking figuratively and meaning that one who is morally clean still needs cleansing from special faults. "Ye are clean, but not all," he added, referring to Judas who was false through and through.

Ontario Government Keeping Watchful Eye On Contacts For Publicity

The Mail and Empire in a news story says the Ontario attorney-general's department "is reported to be keeping a watchful eye on contacts of the famous quintuplets."

The Mail story says: "Neither the department nor the official guardians, which Hon. Arthur W. Robuck appointed to the babes last fall, will, it is understood, tolerate any agreements of a 'side-show' character, but on the other hand are not adverse to said, to contracts that would raise substantial revenues for the youngsters' future upbringing without prejudicing their health."

Little Journeys In Science

ELECTRICITY

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

The first observed electrical effects were produced by rubbing amber, and the word electricity is derived from the Greek word for amber, namely elektron. Amber was used in spinning, the oldest handwork known to the human race. Spinning was performed by means of the distaff, and sometimes the spindles were made of amber. The spinner called her spindle the "clutch" because as the spindle descended and whirled around, it rubbed against the loose feminine garments, thus becoming electrified, and on nearing the ground, it attracted bits of chaff or leaves.

It was not, however, until 1600 A.D. that Dr. William Gilbert, surgeon to Queen Elizabeth, and sometimes referred to as the father of the modern science of electricity and magnetism, discovered that when a glass rod and about twenty other substances were rubbed separately with silk, these bodies, like amber, became electrified. Many years later it was observed that when sealing wax was rubbed with cat's fur, the wax took on an electric charge, which differed from that of the glass. Benjamin Franklin introduced the terms positive and negative to distinguish the two kinds of electricity. It was Franklin who showed by flying a kite in a thunder storm and drawing sparks from the insulated lower end of the kite string that lightning and electricity were the same. He was the inventor of the lightning rod. According to Franklin, any body is positively charged with electricity if it is repelled by a glass rod which has been electrified by silk, and negatively charged if repelled by sealing wax which has been rubbed by cat's fur. These definitions, given us by the famous Franklin, are still in use.

It was shown many years ago that when a glass rod is rubbed with silk, the latter takes up a negative charge exactly equal to the positive charge of the glass. Thus, in general, it may be stated that positive and negative charges of electricity always appear at the same time and in exactly equal quantities.

Must Know His Job

Dictator Of Turkey Pays Man To Taste His Food

Mustapha Kemal Pasha, dictator of Turkey, assigns one of his secret service men to taste all his food for him one hour before he dines. Evidently the ruler has not just created a job for a nice fellow. He must know what he is about. The man who gets $15,000 a year for this work does not seem to mind it. He says he saves food money and eats the best of everything although there may not be much future in the job.

TO CURB EVILS OF EXPLOITATION BY CORPORATIONS

Ottawa.—Amendments to the Dominion Companies Act will be introduced at the forthcoming parliamentary session which will, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett declared, "with the co-operation of the citizens of Canada, stamp out evils in corporations operating under Dominion authority." The amendments would, among other things, abolish the right to issue shares of no par value.

Mr. Bennett closed the fourth of his series of broadcast addresses with a reference to those who might describe his reform policies as "radicalism." He anticipated that charge.

"Selfish men, corporations without souls, those fearful that this government might impinge upon what they have come to regard as their immemorial right of exploitation, will whisper against us," he said. "We fear them not. The lives and happiness of too many people depend upon our success, to allow the selfishness of a few individuals to endanger it."

The address marked the close of Mr. Bennett's account of his stewardship, his outline of needed reforms and his proposals to meet the need.

Establishment of the central bank measures designed to make low rate short-term credits more abundant, and government financing, were reviewed. The central bank, Mr. Bennett said, would be "charged with the responsibility of seeing that the volume of credit available does not depend upon the working of competitive business forces. It will be a powerful instrument for social justice."

The decision Canadian people would be asked to make in the general election would be momentous—"the most momentous, except one, that you have ever taken," the prime minister continued, and he expressed the belief that electors would support his platform of reform. Mr. Bennett did not name the one exception.

To Complete Honeymoon

Duke and Duchess of Kent Will Sail For British West Indies

London.—The newly-married royal couple, the Duke and Duchess of Kent, will sail for the British West Indies on Jan. 25 for a visit of several weeks, completing their honeymoon.

Announcement was made that the king's youngest son and his lovely bride, the former Princess Marina of Greece, will sail on board the Duchess of Richmond, which is going on a 48-day cruise to the West Indies. They will not remain aboard during the cruise, however, and will return by another steamer. They are not expected back until early in April.

It will be the first visit to the West Indies for Prince George as well as for Princess Marina. They have been in England since their wedding at Westminster abbey on Nov. 29, a festive occasion for London, but are expected to visit the continent before sailing for the West Indies.

Will Train In Vancouver

Noted Moose Jaw Girl Swimmer Goes To Coast

Vancouver.—Phyllis Dewar, of Moose Jaw, woman swimming champion, voted the greatest woman athlete in Canada during 1934 by a Dominion-wide poll of sports writers has become an adopted daughter of Vancouver.

Miss Dewar is now a member of the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club and will be under the coaching of Percy Norman. The coach plans to point Miss Dewar towards championships in all distances from 50 yards to a mile.

Awarded Damages

Long Drawn Out Case Over Sinking Of Run Runner Is Settled

Washington.—The United States-Canadian commission to arbitrate the controversy resulting from the sinking of the run runner, I'm Alone, off the Louisiana coast in 1929 held that the United States should apologize for sinking the vessel and should pay Canada $25,000 as compensation.

The decision was given by Justice Van Devanter, of the United States supreme court and Chief Justice Duff, of Canada.

In the long drawn out case Canada had claimed damages of $386,000. The commission reported that no compensation should be allowed to the owner for the ship or its cargo.

As for the master and crew it was found they were not parties to any conspiracy to smuggle liquor into the United States, but were mere employees to navigate the ship from place to place as owners directed.

By reason of their non-participation in the alleged conspiracy, the commission found they should be compensated for their clothing and effects which were sunk with the ship and for the wrong that was done them by casting them into the sea and then putting them in irons. This was done by the coast guard.

The commission recommended the United States pay John T. Randall, captain of the ship, $7,900; representatives of John Williams, crew member, who has since died, $1,250; Jens Jansen, $1,088; James Barrett, $1,082; representatives of William Young, now dead, $57; Eddie Young, $999; Chesley Hobbs, $1,232; and Edward Fouchard, $965. All the latter were members of the crew.

Amanda Mainguy, widow of Leon Mainguy, sailor who lost his life when the I'm Alone was sunk, was awarded $10,185 for herself and children.

New Bluebird Car

Sir Malcolm Campbell Has Re-designed Motor Racer

Brooklands, Eng.—A great squat new Bluebird which Sir Malcolm Campbell hopes to send slinging down the sand at Daytona Beach, Fla., at more than 300 miles per hour a little over a month hence, emerged from its cocoon here.

Product of 18 months of unceasing research and labor the famous racing monster presented a vastly altered appearance and surprised even those closest to her equally famous pilot.

Completely redesigned, from her broad snout to the tip of her tail it is over 28 feet long, the glistening new juggernaut is now so flattened out it looks almost like a bobbed on wheels.

Viewed from the front, there is a distinct resemblance to a flat-headed car with an air intake shelter across the front making a realistic mouth. Sir Malcolm seemed prouder of this shutter than anything else. "When I close it at top speed I should get 15 more miles per hour," he said.

Profit For British Banks

Net Gain For Big Five $2,110,000 During Last Year

London.—The "Big Five" British banks announced profits for 1934 which in all cases are higher than in 1933. Dividends, however, are unchanged.

Net profits aggregated $44,100,000, an increase of $2,110,000 in 1933.

The big four British railways a few days ago announced similar increases for 1934.

The "Big Five" banks are Barclay's Bank, Lloyd's, Midland, National Provincial and Westminster banks.

Modern Voting In Sweden

Electrical Apparatus To Be Used By Parliament Members

Stockholm.—Voting in the Swedish riksdag will soon be modernized. Members of the two houses of parliament will not even have to raise their hands in order to register their "ayes" or "nays." Instead, as the result of a bill recently passed, all a member need do to cast his vote is to press a button.

The riksdag is to have electrical apparatus installed which will work so swiftly that an entire vote may be conducted and tabulated within 90 seconds.

Just An Experiment

Manitoba To Ship Chilled Beef To United Kingdom

Brandon.—Hon. D. G. McKenzie, Manitoba minister of agriculture, announced here the Manitoba government will sponsor a test shipment of chilled beef to the United Kingdom this year.

Arrangements have been made with Winnipeg packing houses to make the shipments, said Mr. McKenzie in address to a meeting of Manitoba livestock associations here. The shipment would be made as an experiment.

The government would sponsor a shipment of 500 head of cattle to the United Kingdom market as well, said Mr. McKenzie. He expected the cattle to be ready for export next August. Where possible the cattle would be put on the feeding lots of the boys' and girls' club clubs.

Would Learn Peace Views

Plan To Get Stand On Question Of Federal Candidates

Ottawa.—A plan of action to be participated in by voters across Canada, whereby the views of candidates for parliament in the forthcoming federal election, on peace organization, may be ascertained and recorded, was set in operation by the League of Nations Society at a meeting of its executive committee here. Under the scheme voters who believe in a policy of peace will ask their members of parliament or candidates to state their views on the matter.

A NEW WONDER CAR—THE GNAT

The smallest racing car in the world, capable of 120 miles an hour, has just been introduced in England by Jess Reville, the midge car speedway champion of Great Britain. This is the forerunner of a small fleet which will provide greater speed and thrills for speedway fans in the British Isles during the coming season. Here we see Mr. Reville at the wheel of his car, the Gnat, after a trial run.

Take Over Ceded Territory

Italy Prepares To Possess New Holdings In Africa

Rome.—Benito Mussolini made ready to take over quickly Italy's new territories in Africa, ceded to her by France, as the suggestion was advanced that the two nations might invite Germany to renew discussions concerning disarmament.

General Emilio de Bono, minister of colonies, was reported preparing to sail from Africa shortly to supervise personally incorporation into Eritrea of the strategic triangle of territory at the southern end of the Red Sea.

It was expected an official communique would be issued announcing de Bono's resignation from the cabinet and Mussolini's addition of the colonies portfolio to the six he already holds—foreign affairs, marine, aviation, interior and corporations.

General de Bono, veteran Fascist, also will effect the consolidation of Somalia and Eritrea under one administration for greater efficiency.

The suggestion of German collaboration in an agreement for disarmament came from an authoritative source, which said France and Italy have chosen the Italian disarmament memorandum of last January as the basis for granting Germany partial rearmament, provided she returned to the League of Nations and enters the proposed non-intervention pact for central Europe.

Cold Weather In Europe

Transportation Paralyzed And Much Suffering Reported

London.—Bitter winter weather gripped many parts of Europe, bringing distress to shipping, paralyzing communications and visiting acute hardship on the poor.

The possible continuation of severe temperatures would produce an improvement in the European demand for wheat was seen here by Andrew Cairns, Canadian secretary of the international wheat conference.

Such a condition, Cairns said, would tend to cancel the effects of favorable weather during December, which brought good pasture for most European areas and small demand for foreign grain.

Five men were believed to have perished when a small boat sank amid grinding ice in the Danube river at Ada Huga Island near Belgrade.

Railroad and telegraph traffic throughout Yugoslavia was tied up by a 30-hour blizzard and communication with the Dalmatian coast virtually severed.

Similar conditions prevailed in Hungary and Austria, where 10 inches of snow fell in 24 hours. More than 22,000 workers, including many women, found employment digging Vienna out from beneath its icy blanket.

IMPLEMENT FIRMS ARE INVESTIGATED BY COMMISSION

Ottawa.—Only one of the four big farm implement companies of Canada had suffered severe financial losses through the depression at the end of 1933, the royal commission on mass buying learned from Walter Gordon, Toronto auditor.

Starting the last of its major investigations, the commission was told Massey-Harris Co. Ltd., rolled up a deficit of $15,993,000 in the years 1931, 1932, and 1933 while accumulated surpluses took care of the losses of the other three big companies, International Harvester Co. of Canada, Cockshutt Plow Co. Ltd., and Frost and Wood. At the end of 1933, a comparison of the four companies showed Massey-Harris was the only one in the red although all had taken operating losses with the start of the depression.

The commission completed the last stages of two investigations, the canning business and the milling and baking industry.

W. J. Drynan, general manager of Canadian Canners, Ltd., of Hamilton, left three or four suggestions with the commission, designed to help the canning industry. He proposed a fund of $250,000, with contributions from the Dominion government, canners, can manufacturers and others, to be used for publicity to stimulate a national appetite for tomatoes. In addition, Drynan said his company was willing to draft a new agreement with fruit and vegetable growers and settle difficulties through a joint council and, where possible, pay higher prices. Another of his suggestions was a crop hazard insurance scheme handled by the Dominion with the canners making contributions. It would be patterned after the wheat insurance of the west.

Because of the mass of detail, the commission made only slight progress with the farm implement probe. Gordon presented figures to show the four large companies carrying $33,312,000 as accounts receivable and $6,969,000 by the International Harvester, $21,412 by Cockshutt Plow and $30,427 by Frost and Wood.

Sales of farm implements have fallen drastically in recent years, from $51,974,000 to $26,685,000 in 1933 for the four large companies alone. Their percentage of net profit fell proportionately, leading to the operating losses.

Marketing Scheme

Manitoba Livestock Association Approves Of Principle

Brandon, Man.—Approval in principle of a marketing scheme under the Natural Products Marketing Act was voted by annual meetings of livestock, sheep and swine breeders' associations of Manitoba in session here.

The draft was submitted by a committee named by the various breeders' associations to study the various schemes proposed in Manitoba, and also by organizations in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Dr. J. A. Munn, of Carman, was chairman of the committee. Further alterations will be made and submitted to later meetings.

The draft provides that all livestock shall be sold through public markets. Marketing costs in Manitoba would be controlled through co-operation between the Manitoba and Dominion governments. Export of livestock would be directed by a separate export board.

Whether the export board would work independently or in co-operation with boards in Saskatchewan and Alberta was considered but no decision made. Considerable discussion centered on the degree of control which the boards controlling both domestic marketing and export marketing would exercise. This point was undecided.

Do Your Own Figuring.

The smallness of the existing stocks of various grains on the farms of the U.S.A. revealed by a report of the Washington Dept of Agriculture was to be expected, remarks a grain expert. But the reductions from this time a year ago are so enormous as to leave no doubt of the heavy demands that will have to be met before new crops are available. Imports on an increasingly large scale may be regarded as inevitable.

Prize-winning Poultry.

Mrs Carmichael, the noted owner of numerous pens of prize winning fowl, motored to the City the other day with seven cases of her prize winning eggs, for which she obtained the highest market price. Mrs Carmichael was greatly surprised at the date for the Poultry Show was brought on at such an early date this year. As usual, she had intended making several entries from her purebred R.I Reds, and also from her White Minorcas. In addition to these she intended entering several exhibits of eggs, from her birds, for which she has on numerous occasions received the highest awards. Those wishing to go in for fancy stock or a breed to lay strain, could do no better than communicate with the Carmichael Ranch.

"Bill" Forester Passes.

His old friends here will regret to hear of the death at Balcarres, Sask., of Wm Louis Forester, who passed away Wed. Jan. 9. Deceased had come up from the U.S.A. to this district in 1905, and carried, on farming operations quite extensively about 3 miles south of town. After farming here for some fifteen years, he made a trip down to Morse, Sask., where he accepted a favorable offer on some farming and pasture land. He held a big clearance sale on his farm here on Mar. 4th, 1920, and shortly after moved with his outfit to Saskatchewan. He is said to have been very successful in his operations there.

About a year ago he was taken down with a stroke, since which time he had been confined to bed.

"Bill," as he was known here by all his friends, was aged 72 years 2 months. The funeral service was held in the Balcarres United Church on Friday Jan. 11.

WHEN YOU REQUIRE PRINTING,

THE STONY PLAIN SUN PRINTERY.

As a progressive Dairyman desiring to secure maximum profits from my milk herd, I realize the necessity of adhering to an organized schedule of care, feeding and handling.

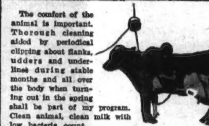

Timber inventory, I have noticed that pure milk is better than purified milk and that I want not more cows, but more of better milk from each cow.

My first step should be the selection of a fine true bred sire—a selection which should always command great care and good judgment.

Proper selection of dams also will bring to me rewards in more milk, better milk and better milk.

The comfort of the animal is important. Thorough cleaning aided by periodical clipping about flanks, udders and underlines during stable months and all over the body when turning out to the spring shall be part of my program. Clean animals, clean milk with low lactacid count.

The growth in the number of cow testing associations convinces me that membership in one is a good thing. I value my association full support and co-operation.

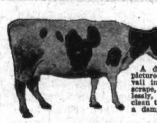

Proper feeding is essential. Therefore I shall always provide a carefully balanced ration to my herd, as well as a plentiful supply of pure, clean water.

Any cow in my herd suspected of being a breeder or otherwise lacking in necessary qualifications shall undergo a test, but thorough test. What I spend on my herd must come back to me at a profit.

During the hot months, whenever possible, I shall supply my herd with a cool clean, outside resting place, where they may chew their cud in peace and respite on the pleasures of being a parasite.

A dry condition like that shown here, that will in my herd. Rather than keep a cow dry, I shall clip and quickly clean thoroughly by using only a damp cloth.

A clean body, clean udder, clean flanks, clean underlines and no milk on the udder or flanks are essential to the production of pure milk.

The dairy or creamery that buys my milk must value quality and sanitation. As much as I do, they must carry on from the dairy's hygiene which I have no control.

Then when my milk is bottled I shall know I can afford for my efforts. I shall get pure milk and more money for my milk and the purest and clean and better milk shall spread throughout the land.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protests against it.

Proof of Dustin's cattle stealing activities was accidentally discovered by Stone, who accompanied by Edith Carr was riding fence a long way from the Hour-glass ranch house.

Dustin unexpectedly comes along and seeing them, stops and talks to Edith. He mentions the Soda Springs dispute could be settled by marrying him, and Edith refuses his proposal with remarks that make Dustin furious. He insults Stone, who promptly throws him into a pool of water.

Stone tells Crests, his foreman, about his meeting with Dustin, and is warned that Dustin would kill him if he got the chance. Stone and Crests go to Seco to send a telegram to Gerald Keene. While at Seco an attempt is made to kill Stone, who proves more than a match for his enemies.

Dustin learns that Gerald Keene has been sent for and also that Duro Stone has seen the Broken Spur men rustling Carr's cattle. He sets out with Dad Kane to learn the details of his gold-discovery and appraise its value. Dad Kane shows Dustin the mine and samples of the rich ore he took from it.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER IX.—Continued

Kane struggled in his blankets and came back to consciousness, an angry, lovely figure in the half-light. His gray old face was covered with a two-weeks-old stubble, his mouth dribbled tobacco-juice and his eyes were rheumy with sleep. Such a man had no right to live.

"Come on over here. I have something to say to you."

Kane got up and moved over, squatting by the side of the fire. He pulled the coffee-pot to him and filled his cup, for, like all prospectors, he could drink coffee at any hour.

"Well," he said cantabatively, "shoot your wad."

"That-vein you showed me looks mighty good at first sight," said Dustin.

There was no room for argument there. It was a statement that met Kane's whole-hearted approval.

"I've been huntin' for somethin' like it for more'n thirty years," he said. "Go on."

"After we've staked out our claim."

"What then?"

Kane temporized. He knew well enough what the usual steps were.

As a rule the man who had grubstaked the prospector got half the claim, sold out and the man to whom he sold it would be reluctant to invest more money. It was always a question of more money. The whole history of mining in the West is replete with that. Thirteen dollars are put in every mine for each dollar that is taken through the courts.

After that the property passes into the hands of a corporation that has money to throw away.

Kane sucked his pipe reflectively.

"Well," he said finally, "I reckon we'll have to hire a lawyer an' fight our claim through the courts."

"After that we kin build a dam over in Coyote Canon."

"That's just over the next bridge."

"An' pipe the water over here; put our crusher an' tables in here."

"An'—"

He dropped on in the unending plans of prospectors the world over.

"Anyhow," he said, "there's a million in it."

"There might have been," said Dustin sharply, "if you hadn't been a damned fool."

He chose this way to back himself into a fury that would justify to himself what he meant to do. Kane was quite right. There were millions in it . . . but not for Kane!

"Where's the ore you took out?" he asked sharply.

"I staked two miles of it over there."

"Kane waved his hand at a shadowy mesquite clump. "Did you think I'd staked it on you?"

Dustin said nothing. He followed the squat figure through the scrub to a forlorn pile of ore-samples, selected a couple of pieces of ore-laden rock from one of them and dropped them into his coat pocket. Then he turned to Kane who was watching him shrewdly.

"You damned old fool," he snarled. "You've got us into a nice mess."

He stamped back to the fire with Kane behind him and his hand dove deep into his saddle-bags that lay by his blankets. His quick eyes took in Peyotli quivering asleep on the far side of the fire; his gorilla-like limbs flung wide. His hand came out of that saddle-bag with something in it; something that he covered with a quick flirt of the blanket and Kane gaped at him as Dustin flung one of the ore-samples into the fire.

"You and your salted stuff," said Dustin angrily.

"Salted?" Kane emitted an angry roar and matched at the rock. Even a desert rat has his points of honor, and this was old Kane's, but he never lived to make his point.

A short, stabbing jet of flame leaped from the loose blanket over Dustin's arm. A fat, smacking report like the noise a plank makes in falling on quiet water jarred the desert night. A little swirl of white smoke eddied from the end of the blanket and old Kane, Dad Kane, Shammy-skin Kane, old and very wise Diggins of the foot-hill, sank to his knees and slowly rolled over on his face while his claw-like hands worked convulsively. Then he lay still.

Dustin cast a hurried, frightened glance over his shoulder at the still-sleeping Peyotli. His quick eyes, with a hunted glare in them took in the purposes of the camp, glancing at hill and brush and stunted bush that surrounded them. The world-old quarry of the killer was taking form. "Did any one see me?"

Even Dustin could not stand the strain.

"Oh, my God!" He choked a little. "He dropped like a shot rabbit."

Then he rocked on his heels and was violently sick.

For a moment he squatted there in the brush overcome by the violence of his emotions. Even in his life, had as it had been, this had never happened before. The need had never arisen. If old Kane had only struggled or fought it out it would have been different. He felt that even some show of holiness would have given him a reasonable excuse. Suppose some one had seen him!

Then common sense came to his relief. He knew there could be no man in this wild land. There could be no danger of course but first of all he must complete his plan. He must eliminate all chance of suspicion. From the very first his plan had been to make Peyotli the scapegoat for his act.

He snatched that lump of ore from the saddle. Then, though his shuddering muscles nearly refused to function, he dabbled the rock in the blood at the back of Kane's head and laid the rock aside. Again he scrutinized the hills, now blue-black with the falling night. No danger from any observer that he rode his horse, seeing him move, dashed off to the brass anticipating capture. What a fool he was to think that muffled report would arouse Peyotli!

Under ordinary conditions a Derringer pistol would have killed noise and he had stoned him with a blanket. The vast silence of the desert enveloped him as in a blanket and the cold wind from the hills chilled him to the bone but he walked over to the fire, rummaged among the bedding where Kane had slept and then came back to where Kane lay. In a daze he picked up the still limp body and carried it to the fire and laid it head to foot by the gorilla-like shape of the sleeping Peyotli. With the care of a workman who looks only to a completed task, he laid the blood-stained rock in the open palm of the sleeping man. Then he half-emptied Peyotli's canteen and laid it between the two bodies. The next moment he was shaking Peyotli by the shoulder and shouting in his ears.

"It was no light job to awaken Peyotli. He fought with hands and feet against awaking. He rolled and struggled and pitched and with every struggle Dustin's wrath grew. Finally with a last convulsive struggle Peyotli grunted and sat up.

"He stared for one long heart-breaking moment at the blood-stained rock clenched in his hand! Then his wondering eyes took in the limp body at his feet! The half-emptied canteen! His uncomprehending eyes swept Dustin along at him and finally his gaze came back to Kane.

"What the hell . . ." demanded Peyotli dazedly. "What the hell . . ."

"His wavering finger traced a line in the air and his jaw dropped. His breath drew hard in great gasps and a look of insensate terror dawned in his eyes.

"What in hell have you done, Peyotli?" demanded Dustin curiously. "I was out lookin' at the horses when I heard you two fightin'."

You woke up and yelled for water."

You said Kane had stolen your water and you'd kill him for it."

"What've you done?"

Still Peyotli stared at him, then he gazed at the rock still in his great hand and he rose slowly to his feet.

"I was . . . I was dreamin' . . ."

"He began. "I was dreamin' . . . I was on the edge of a pond and old man Kane . . ."

Suddenly he began to sob, great tearless sobs that came from his diaphragm and that racked him in spasms.

"Oh, my God!" he wailed. "I never meant to do it! I never even thought of it. It's all that damned stuff you gave me . . ."

That cursed stuff. . . I'd never have done it but for that stuff. . ."

"That you stole while my back was turned," said Dustin accusingly. "I brought along a little bit of it to sort of taper you off your damned spells and you stole the whole supply. No wonder you committed murder . . ."

It was much easier than Dustin had believed possible.

QUICKEST METHOD TO RELIEVE A COLD

Follow Directions to Ease
Pain and Discomfort
Almost Instantly

When you have a cold, remember the simple treatment pictured here . . . prescribed by doctors everywhere to-day as the quick, safe way.

Because of Aspirin's quick-disintegrating property, Aspirin "takes hold"—almost instantly.

Just take Aspirin and drink plenty of water . . . every 2 to 4 hours the first day—less often afterward . . . If throat is sore, use the Aspirin gargle.

But be sure you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin Tablet. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Company, Limited.

DOES NOT HARM THE HEART

1. Take 2 Aspirin Tablets.

2. Drink full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

3. If throat is sore, crush and add 2 Aspirin Tablets to a third of a glass of water and gargle. This eases the soreness in your throat almost instantly.

"You see what you've done," he said accusingly.

The soul-racking sobs continued. It is not in man to destroy his kind, or being innocent, to believe that he has killed, which is worse, without giving some sign.

"You just got mad and mashed his head in with that rock," said Dustin. "You had some fool doped dream about water."

"Dreamed you were fightin' old Kane for water."

"There's the canteen."

And when he tried to keep you from takin' it, his canteen, you bashed his head in. Look at that rock."

Peyotli dropped that rock as though it was red-hot and Dustin picked it up.

"Before God, Mist' Dustin, I never meant to do it. . . I never had a word with him. . . I liked the old man. . . Why would I kill him. . ."

"Oh, shut up, you fool! I understand how it was. He was kind of provokin' at times but that will not help you with a jury."

"Of course I ought to take you back and turn you in for murder . . ."

Peyotli shivered.

"I don't see any good in killin' another man. It's too darned bad though about old Kane."

"Any jury ever gets the windings."

Kane dead, empty canteen, between you; you all hopped up with Peyotli; a fight between you over water . . . you with a bloody rock in your hand and old Dad with the back of his head bashed in."

"Huh! I reckon you'll hang, Peyotli."

"What're you goin' to do?"

"Do? What do you reckon I'm goin' to do? You poor fool! You've been workin' for the Broken Spur for five years. The Broken Spur don't throw off its friends. Poor old Kane was only a desert-rat. In a year or two he'd have got his anyhow. I'm goin' to let you go, Peyotli."

I ought not to do it but I'm goin' to anyway. Get a pick out of the pack and dig a hole under that mesquite bush where we can bury him."

In twenty minutes the painting Peyotli had dug a great pit in the rocky soil. While he was digging Dustin went very carefully through the pockets of the dead man. A muttered curse told that he had not found what he sought.

Are You Ruminant, Tired?

Mrs. Mabel Murphy of 17 Westinghouse Ave., 17 Westinghouse Ave., New York, says: "About five years ago I had a terrible cold, and after several days of suffering, I felt that I was going to die. I had finished the first bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I felt much better. I had more strength and I was able to get on my feet. I had a new, stable, 10 cents, 10 cents, 10 cents. Large size, 10 cents, 10 cents, 10 cents."

Keep "Leftovers" Fresh and Tasty

You know how deliciously fresh newspaper keeps and envelopes. "Para-San" Heavy Waxed Paper will do the same for cut meats, cake and other foods that remain at the end of the meal. "Para-San" enables you to serve these leftovers again, knowing that they will possess their appealing flavor and freshness.

"Para-San" comes in a handy roll. Just tear off what you need against the sharp edge of the box. For less exacting uses, "Centre-Pull" Waxed Paper in sheets is very popular.

Your druggist or stationer has them both.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people "round 40 think they're 'growing old.' They feel tired, 'weak.' They have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets."

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person. You'll enjoy the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets, made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM! Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Lightly taste the liquid form. Lightly taste the tablet form. Lightly taste the tablet form.

Candidate Bevington Says.

In a manifesto to the electors of Edson-Jasper Riding, Geo Beving-ton, the OCF candidate, says, in part—

The outgrown, and outworn economic system of rugged individualism, "every man for himself and the devil take the hind-most" has resulted in the exploitation of the many by the few,
and deprived the great mass of the people of the benefits of our unparalleled productive capacity. In a word, the so called rugged individualism has resulted in "ragged individuals."

PHOSPHATES AND CALCIUM

Are Important Minerals in Livestock Feed.

Under the heading "The 9 Mineral Supplements for Domestic Animals" Dr S. H. McClelland, V.S., discusses the important subject of the mineral requirements of livestock. The doctor emphasizes the importance of calcium and phosphorus as follows:

"There is a prevalent idea that these minerals are present in all our foods in a sufficient measure and that therefore the study of this matter is not particularly important, but this idea is far from the truth.

"Calcium is necessary to cause the blood to coagulate. Without lime in the blood a wounded animal would bleed to death. Calcium is needed in the process of digestion, especially in the digestion of fat.

"That calcium increases the proliferacy and has a decided influence on the progeny is a fact which cannot be disputed."

"Breeding sows will have larger,
stronger litters; mares have stronger foals; and cows have calves immune to disease."

"Phosphorus is the second mineral element found in the animal body.
Phosphorus in the animal body is only about 1 p.c., yet that 1 p.c. is as important to the health of the animal as the other 99 p.c.

"Phosphorus has specific against rickets and osteomalacia (softening of the bone)."

BEST WISHES FROM THE HON. CHARLES STEWART

The Honorable Charles
Stewart, member for West
Edmonton and Liberal candidate in the Jasper Edson Riding, wishes to extend to the residents of the Stony Plain District the best wishes for a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Mr Stewart thinks that the session of Parliament which opens at Ottawa this week

HON. CHAS. STEWART,
Liberal Candidate in Jasper-Edson Riding.

will be an extraordinarily interesting one. Since he feels that the voters of this Riding will be very interested in the proceedings at Ottawa, he has been arranged to issue a news letter covering the proceedings of the House from time to time.

Any one who cares to receive these news-letters has only to drop a line to Mr Stewart at Ottawa, and they will be forwarded to him.

Mr Stewart will be especially glad to hear from anyone who feels that they have any information or suggestions that should be brought to his attention.

UFA Membership Gains.

The membership of the United Farmers of Alberta shows an increase of approximately 500 in comparing total figures of 1914 with the year previous. The pre-
s. membership according to figures set out in the annual report stands at 14,664. A year ago it was 14,162.

In the course of the year 93
new locals were organized, and 136 failed to report.

Steady Progress.

During the last year or more no publication has shown more remarkable strides in the matter of increased circulation than has The Family Herald and Weekly Star.
This is not strange, for it is evident that in time of stress people are prone to cut down on the number and variety of magazines and papers coming into their homes, and they find in The Family Herald and Weekly Star a paper which, at $1 per year, gives them every variety of reading; for old and young, all combined in this one publication. Every issue overflows with practical farming ideas, up-to-the-minute articles, short stories; together with a weekly newspaper section which rounds out a feast of reading without compare. Truly it has been well said that The Family Herald and Weekly Star is the best for the least.

On the Side.

"Debunking" seems to be quite a favorite pastime these days, and many of the old favorite superstitions and beliefs are having a tough time holding their own.
Here are some that have been "exploded": That whiskey is good for wounds; that toads give warts;
that there are wet and dry moons;
that the ostrich buries its head in the sand when threatened with danger; not to mention such things as finding horseshoes, knocking on wood, breaking mirrors, walking under ladders, getting out of bed on the wrong side, and the like.
Nothing, they'll be trying to prove there is no Santa Claus.

Now that the registration of revolvers and pistols is under way, the thought comes that a list of the places where he is likely to find the least resistance will be of incalculable value to the up-to-date burglar. And then, again, supposing a second-story man was rim-maging in another's residence and got damaged by a bullet from an unregistered firearm, the burglar sure would have grounds for a suit against the party from whom he had received the illegal damage as aforesaid.

Back seat driving, after all, is not a thing which can be wholly disregarded. It can make itself felt, we've found out.

This week's theme from Spink's magazine:—
When I was young and in my prime
I thought it best to have a dime;
And so it gives me quite a pain
To find myself that way again.
